Montana is Inalca's historic brand, a company of the Cremonini Group, leader in European production of beef and processed meat products.

Montana's products represent the taste of Italian tradition, always in line with the trends of today's consumers.

From the classic "Bolognese sauce", to the Jambonet meat patè, to Montana's iconic product: beef in jelly!

What distinguishes Montana's beef in jelly is its Made in Italy (100% meat from Italian farms), the short and controlled supply chain, the jelly made with its natural meat broth, and its environmental product declaration EPD. This report assesses the environmental impact of a tin of classic Montana meat along the entire production line, from farming to the collection and recycling of the packaging. It provides a certified record of Montana's commitment to the environment that meets the demands of an ever more conscious and responsible consumer.

Beef in jelly

Classica Italiana

Montana classica italiana is the first beef in jelly with an environmental product certification (EPD). Furthermore, what distinguishes Montana's beef is the all-Italian production chain. Montana selects the cuts using only the lean part of the muscle, which is cooked, sliced and packaged with the addition of gelatine obtained from its natural broth. Montana beef in jelly is a lean product (only 1.2% fat) and is also a safe choice for those with coeliac (AIC handbook).
